STAYING SAFE AT LAMBING TIME

The lambing season is here and reports of dog attacks on sheep are increasing, therefore dog owners are urged to take extra care. Every year sheep are killed, maimed and miscarry because of being chased and attacked by dogs. This is a serious animal welfare concern and also causes a great deal of emotional stress and financial cost to sheep farmers around the country.

The risk of heavily pregnant ewes aborting is extremely high after suffering the stress of been chased by dogs, not to mention the risk of young lambs becoming separated from their mother at a critical early bonding stage. Lambs will die from starvation or hypothermia when they become separated from their mother and fail to find her again. Dog owners don't set out on a walk to hurt sheep but sadly that is what can happen if the dog is allowed to run loose around livestock. Many dogs, if given the opportunity, will chase or show interest in livestock so even if your pet is normally calm, gentle, obedient and docile, don't be complacent; they can be still be a danger. There is a very simple way to stop these attacks - keep your dog on a lead around livestock.

Tips for dog owners:

- ◆ Watch for signs warning of livestock and keep your dog on a lead around farm animals and in areas you suspect animals may be grazing, or avoid them completely.
- ◆ If your dog chases sheep, report it to the farmer even if there is no apparent injury as the stress of worrying by dogs can cause sheep to die and pregnant ewes to miscarry their lambs
- ◆ Make sure your dog is wormed regularly and pick up it's mess to stop diseases spreading to livestock

Facts about sheep worrying

- ◆ Under the Animals Act 1971, a person acting to protect livestock may be able to kill or injure a dog that he/she reasonably believes is "worrying" without incurring any criminal or civil liability
- ◆ As a dog owner or a person for the time being in charge of a dog, you could be committing an offence if your pet worries livestock on agricultural land
- ◆ Worrying includes attacking or chasing livestock in a way that might reasonably be expected to cause injury, suffering or loss
- ◆ It is also an offence to have a dog in a field or enclosed space where there are sheep when the dog is not on a lead or under close control.

SUCCESS STORY

EDDIE aka TIGER

Eddie bonded with Kim instantly (also from you). He follows her around so has picked things up very quickly but he still behaves like a large puppy. He knows where the fridge and oven are and what they produce. They both are very good with other dogs on and off the lead.

Eddie went through his operation very well, except he has a habit of eating anything and everything. He managed to swallow a large swab at the vets that was in his mouth after cleaning his teeth, thankfully he gave it back to us the next morning.

We have a problem with his digestive system but its under control with a course of tablets, until he eats something else bad.

He is a very sweet boy and loves travelling in the motor home, walks in the country, the beach but not the sea, laying in front of the log fire with his head on Kim's back. And last but not least sitting on one of us.

We would like to thank you for taking good care of him, and we promise to keep making him a happy dog.

PUBLIC GENEROSITY - A LIFELINE FOR OUR DOGS SURVIVAL

Cliff Top Re-Homing Centre survives simply because of the generosity of the general public and its team of dedicated volunteers. These selfless individuals provide time, gifts through donations which are given on an occasional or frequent basis. Without these we would literally no longer exist and no longer be able to help the strays that come into our kennels. We rely heavily on the kindness and thoughtful people in our community.

In return we aim to rescue, reunite or rehome stray dogs which have come into our care. We provide a safe place from cruel and abusive owners and give care and love to all dogs including those that have accidentally escaped from their homes until they can be reunited.

HOW YOU CAN HELP US

Can you give a little of your time to support our fundraising events? We are always looking for more volunteers to help at our events, such as tombola stalls, bag packing in local stores, table top stalls.

Or if you struggle with spare time we are always grateful for tombola prizes donated to us.

Or perhaps you could hold a car boot sale, a coffee morning, baking or even a bring and buy sale. What about a sponsored slim, swim, walk or cycle?

Or something a little more daring such as bungee jumping, abseiling or parachute jumping. How about shaving your head or wearing fancy dress to work - the list really is endless and every penny does count.

A DOG'S PERSPECTIVE

It's great when our new rescue dog settle straight in at home, but sometimes it takes a little longer. It's easy to put way too much, way too fast on our new dog. Maybe, we need to look at it through their eyes

Now I have arrived at your home everything is strange, and I don't feel good.

Do not feel impatient if I don't sleep in my new basket.
My last sleeping place may have been a stone floor.

Do not be terrified if I gobble up my food.
Yesterday, I may have had to do it to survive.

Do not get angry if I pee on your floor.
Yesterday, it did not matter.

Do not be sad if I am afraid of your loving hand.
I may not have ever had one.

Have patience with me, it's your world,
but not yet mine.

If I trust you, I can give you the greatest gift I have to give my heart.

Please, never forget, I was a pound dog.
All I need is a bit of time to adjust.

Buddy's Blog

Let me introduce myself, I am Buddy the border collie. Due to a change in my owners circumstances I started the New Year with a new home. I use to be a town dog but now I live in the countryside, and since moving to the country I have encountered some very strange noises especially at night. Apparently, it's just owls and foxes and deer making these noises but I really wasn't sure to begin with, and then there are these strange looking animals with thick woolly coats which I think my border collie relatives round up, but I just ignore them. I have two new doggy friends called Jack & Harry and we all like going for walks and exploring, but I have to take my favourite green ball everywhere with me.

The weather is quite wet at the moment and I have never had so much mud to run through, I try to bring more back on my coat every time we go out!! I do enjoy having a good brush so I figure the more mud I wear the more I get brushed. I have enjoyed the snow but it's not as easy to find my ball in the snow, I do wish my new owner could throw the ball a little straighter. This is me enjoying the snow with Jack.

I have had a lovely walk on the beach to Robin Hoods Bay from Ravenscar, I checked the tide times to make sure we weren't going to get cut off by the tide. My new lurcher cousin came with us as well and we had a great time splashing through rock pools and chasing my ball. We found a nice tea room that allowed dogs inside and us dogs waited patiently while the humans had coffee and cake. Must go and have a snooze now, catch up with you all later.
